OVERVIEW

The College of Urban Planning and Public Policy offers two undergraduate degrees in Public Policy and in Urban Studies. The Bachelor of Arts in Public Policy is designed to enhance understanding of public problems and how governments attempt to address them. The BAPP may be useful for students considering careers in a variety of policy-related fields, including jobs in policy analysis institutes, research and not-for-profit organizations, and as consultants for business and government entities. The Bachelor of Arts in Urban Studies offers the opportunity to share the laboratory that great urbanists and planners used to study and transform cities, the Chicago metropolitan region. Our students experience and analyze urban issues from many different academic and practical perspectives in a department dedicated exclusively to the city.

Transfer students have the option to complete the Common Application or the UIC Web Application:
