PREFACE

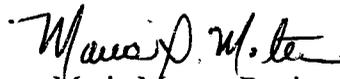

The Office of Research in conjunction with the Registrar's Office has redesigned the third edition to the Harper College Fact Book. We have added additional demographic information about the Harper District, based on the 2000 census. We have also added student retention information in the credit students section. Finally, in addition to the new binding, we have added some color graphics to accompany several of the tables. We hope that you will find this edition better and easier to use.

The Fact Book is designed to provide concise information about Harper College. It contains eight sections: general information, organization and administration, credit students, non-credit students, finances, facilities, human resources, and support services. Individuals from every area of the College provided information contained in sections of the Fact Book and we want to acknowledge and thank all the individuals and units of the College for all their cooperation and assistance.

Questions and comments regarding the Fact Book are encouraged, as we want to make the Fact Book even more useful next year. To do that, we need to hear from you. Please E-mail your comments and suggestions to lcrane@harper.cc.il.us or call the office at 847-925-6955.

History of William Rainey Harper College

The story of William Rainey Harper College parallels the history of the community college movement in Illinois, an educational phenomenon in the late 1960s.

Late in 1964, while legislators in Springfield were adding the final revisions to the Illinois Community College Act enabling citizens to form their own college districts, concerned citizens in Chicago's northwest suburban communities petitioned for a referendum to vote on the establishment of a college. Within a matter of days after the legislation passed, voters in the four-township area of Elk Grove, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling approved a referendum establishing the Harper district on March 27, 1965.

Groundwork for the referendum to establish a two-year college had been laid early in the 1960s with a survey of student needs and the establishment of a Concerned Citizens Committee. The success of the committee was exhibited in a 3-2 margin at the polls. Voters returned to the polls 34 days after approving the referendum to elect seven citizens, from among 48 candidates, as the first board of the new college.

Two years later, Barrington School District 224 (now Unit School District 220) annexed to the Harper district, and the boundaries of Harper's 200-square-mile-constituency were established to become Illinois Community College District 512.

Since its inception, Harper College has been most fortunate in having trustees possessing the capacity to work together in planning programs, solving problems and establishing goals unique in the annals of the northwest suburbs. The first board meeting was held in May 1965. The College had no name, no staff and no facilities, but it did have seven dedicated individuals determined to establish a community college worthy of the area it serves.

During the first year, a president was hired, architects were selected to design and plan a campus, the campus site was chosen and a decision was made to adopt the name of William Rainey Harper College in honor of the "father" of the two-year-college concept.

Voters in the district approved a $7,375,000 building referendum 4-1 to begin Harper's second year. By September 1967, the College was staffed and operating with more than 1,700 students attending evening classes in mobile classes at Elk Grove High School, and ground had been broken for a new campus. Harper College was a reality, and the northwest suburbs had the first college in a 125-year history.

Harper serves as a cornerstone in Illinois educational history as the first two-year institution to complete Phase I of its building construction and the first to receive unqualified full accreditation, only six years after its founding, in the shortest possible time in 1971.

Throughout its brief history, Harper has had a record of monumental growth. The 1967 enrollment of 1,725 students jumped to 3,700 in one year, double the projections. When the doors opened on Harper's new campus in fall, 1969, 5,350 students were enrolled. In the 2001 school year, the college enrolled over 25,000 students.

The College employed numerous off-campus locations, instituted a Weekend College program, and opened an extension campus at Willow Park Center in 1975 to provide additional classroom space for day and evening offerings. The Northeast Center subsequently moved to the Hawthorne School in Wheeling, and in the fall of 1982, to the Stevenson School in Prospect Heights.

A successful referendum held in September 1975 provided funds for the College to proceed with completion of the present campus, purchase land for a second site, and construct the first phase of buildings on that site when required by enrollment increases.

Buildings G and H (now the Engineering and Applied Technology Center) were completed and classes begun in the facilities in 1977. Building M, Wellness and Sports Center, and Buildings I and J (now the Business and Social Science Center) opened to classes in the 1979-80 academic year. All plans were subject to approval by the Illinois Community College Board and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

In 1982, the College established a training center in cooperation with high technology firms in the area. The center was designed to provide instruction and resource materials relating to computer aided design and manufacturing. The innovative educational program of the CAD Center was structured to assist high technology firms in training their employees, as well as to provide some instruction in this developing technology to students in Harper programs. In 1986, the CAD Center was relocated from a Schaumburg office to the Engineering and Applied Technology Center at the campus.

In February 1985, residents of the college district approved a tax rate increase for operation of the College. This was the first increase in tax support for the educational programs, services and operating expenses of Harper College in the 20 years since the College was established.

Changes in population trends over the past 10 years indicated that a second campus would not be needed to accommodate projected enrollment, and the decision was made to sell the property, which had been purchased in Arlington Heights. The sale was finalized in 1986.

In August 1993, the College opened the Marketing Services Center. In the spring of 1994, the Liberal Arts Building was opened. This building includes the Liberal Arts division office, classrooms and faculty offices as well as the College Bookstore. First floor space includes a "black box" theatre for instructional use and three-dimensional art studios devoted to ceramics, sculpture, stagecraft and metal work. The two buildings were part of a building phase that also included renovation plans in existing buildings. The Academic Resource Center was completely renovated in 1994-95 to provide for space on the third floor for the departments and programs of the Academic Enrichment and Language Studies Division and to give appropriate space for the Learning Resource Center on the first and second floors. Occupancy was taken in the spring and fall of 1995. Renovations completed in 1996 included the addition of a large computer lab in Building I and updating of Building V.

The Board of Trustees approved the first and the second phase of the Technology Plan in 1995 and 1996. The campus computer network was completed in 1996, providing links between offices and classrooms and the Internet with a variety of network resources to position Harper for higher education in the next century. In 1998, the College embarked upon implementing a new shared governance structure and the publication of the College's first comprehensive strategic long-range plan.

Groundbreaking for the new Performing Arts Center and Instructional Conference Center was held on May 18, 2000. The new buildings, with an estimated completion in Summer 2002, were partially funded by the Illinois Capital Development Board. The Instructional Conference Center will house one of the largest business amphitheaters in the northwest suburbs and will offer an array of resources for companies and organizations to provide professional development and interactive education activities to their employees. In addition to providing new expanded educational opportunities for students, the new Performing Arts Center will continue to provide the tradition of attracting well-known entertainers and celebrities to campus.

During the summer of 2000, Harper College held "Discovery Sessions" with various community members, business leaders and students and talked about some of the key challenges facing the College to "discover" what the community really wanted from Harper. The Community Response Team (CRT), which was subsequently formed, presented several recommendations to the Board of Trustees, which identified science, technology and healthcare as top priorities for the College to address.

At its special board meeting on August 16, 2000, the Harper College Board of Trustees was presented with the first comprehensive long range Campus Master Plan in the history of the College. The plan, which represents a vision for the next twelve years and included the CRT's priorities, is a dynamic plan intended to guide the College into the future. It will be revised periodically to see that it still reflects the needs of the College and the community it serves.

On November 7, 2000, the Harper College district residents resoundingly voted to pass the $88.8 million referendum to construct one new building on Harper's campus for science, emerging technologies and health care studies.

On August 29, 2001, Harper College opened a new facility in Schaumburg for the TECH (Technical Education and Consulting at Harper) program. It is centrally located to provide easy access for students who work or live in the Schaumburg area.

Illinois Community College System Overview*

William Rainey Harper College is one of the colleges in the Illinois Community College System that consists of 39 community college districts (48 colleges) covering the entire state. Illinois community colleges provide educational programs designed for job entry into many technical fields and for transfer to baccalaureate degree programs. The system also has a business/industry center in every college district to assist local businesses and industries with employment training and upgrading needs. Learning new trades, updating work skills and broadening horizons are all a part of the community college system's mission. Illinois community colleges serve more than 650,000 students through college credit courses and more than 320,000 students in non-credit instruction annually. The Illinois Community College Board (ICCB) serves as the state coordinating agency.

The Board consists of eleven members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for six-year terms. The ICCB Student Advisory Committee selects one student member for a one-year term. The Governor selects the Board Chair. Board meetings are held six to eight times a year.

The Illinois Community College Board utilizes the advice and counsel of all constituent groups of the community college system in establishing policies necessary to implement state statutes. Four organizations representing various community college constituents in the state have been designated as official advisory groups to the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB). These four organizations are the Illinois Presidents Council, The Illinois Community College Trustees Association, The Illinois Community College Faculty Association and the ICCB Student Advisory Committee.

Mission and Vision

The mission of the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB), as the state coordinating board for community colleges, is to administer the Public Community College Act in a manner that maximizes the ability of the community colleges to serve their communities, promotes collaboration within the system, and accommodates those state initiatives that are appropriate for community colleges.

In carrying out its mission, the ICCB affirms its commitment to the "educational development of all persons to the limit of their capacities" as established in the Illinois Constitution. The ICCB further affirms its commitment to providing leadership and direction to the community college system in ways that maximize local autonomy but which assure that each local institution is allowed an equal chance of success.

The ICCB accepts its role as a coordinating agency and believes that, in this role, it is an integral partner with local boards of trustees in providing a framework for successful learning experiences for all Illinois residents. The ICCB commits itself to the following principles in implementing its coordinating responsibilities for the community college system.

- Society's values can and must be shaped and revised by community colleges, where leadership, integrity, humanity, dignity, pride, and caring are purposefully taught and modeled.
- The focus of all activities within the system should be quality and excellence.
- Expressions and manifestations of bigotry, prejudice, and denigration of character are intolerable in the Illinois community college system.
- Experiences of community college students should be directed at developing each individual into an informed, responsible, and contributing citizen.
- No individual is inherently more important than another, and each must be provided an equal opportunity to achieve success regardless of heritage or environmental condition.
- The Illinois community college system has a responsibility to assist communities in identifying and solving those problems that undermine and destroy the fiber of the community.
- The Illinois community college system has a responsibility to be accountable, both for its activities and its stewardship of public funds.

Shared Governance

The internal governance system at William Rainey Harper College features a shared governance structure with committees that examine, discuss and make recommendations on issues ranging from curriculum to long range planning.

The Harper College Shared Governance Structure is the result of a collaborative and cooperative effort. It was completed during the summer of 1998, from May through August. It represents many meetings of the Oversight Committee and Guidelines Committee, as well as meetings with all the committee chairs to construct the data sheets and address the committee roster. The Structure is composed of interrelating committees and elected and appointed bodies of government and officials. The committees are academic, college assembly and programmatic committees. This constitution is a living document and will be revised as appropriate on a regular basis so that it can be flexible and adjust to the changing needs of the College committee structure.

The enduring strength of a William Rainey Harper College education resides in the exceptional body of professionals who make up its faculty and administration. The excellence in our academic programs is supported by excellence in our support staff, who make it possible for our students to receive an excellent education. The Harper College Shared Governance Structure assures that those with primary responsibility and expertise in each area help make the decisions. It weaves a fabric of uncommon strength and beauty as it taps the intellectual resources and talents of each member of our College community.

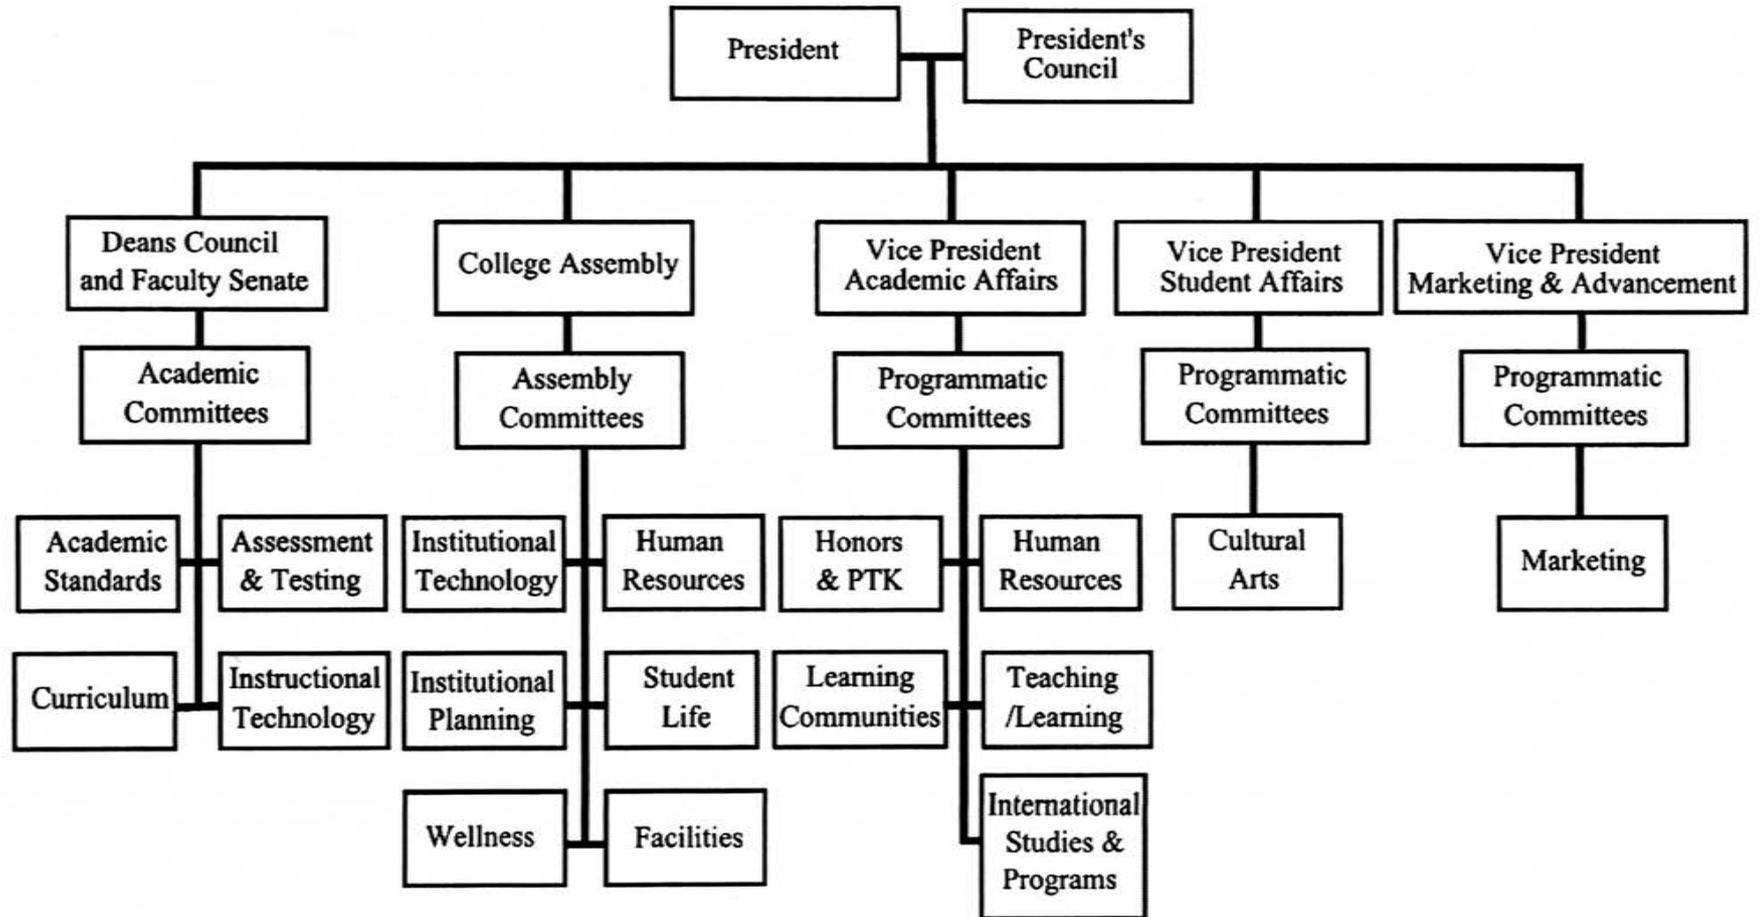

The crucial premises of Shared Governance at Harper College are a belief in our communal purpose, trust in our valued colleagues, and recognition that the student must be at the center of our community. The Guidelines and Structure demonstrate our belief in the values of our institution: collaboration, cooperation, compassion, fairness, honesty, integrity, open communication, respect, shared responsibility, timeliness, trust and collegiality.

An important strength of a Shared Governance Structure is that it offers checks and balances through the committee structure. Committee membership includes a representative group of permanent employees from all areas of the College: Faculty, Administration, Professional-Technical, Classified, Supervisory/Confidential and Physical Plant employees, as appropriate.

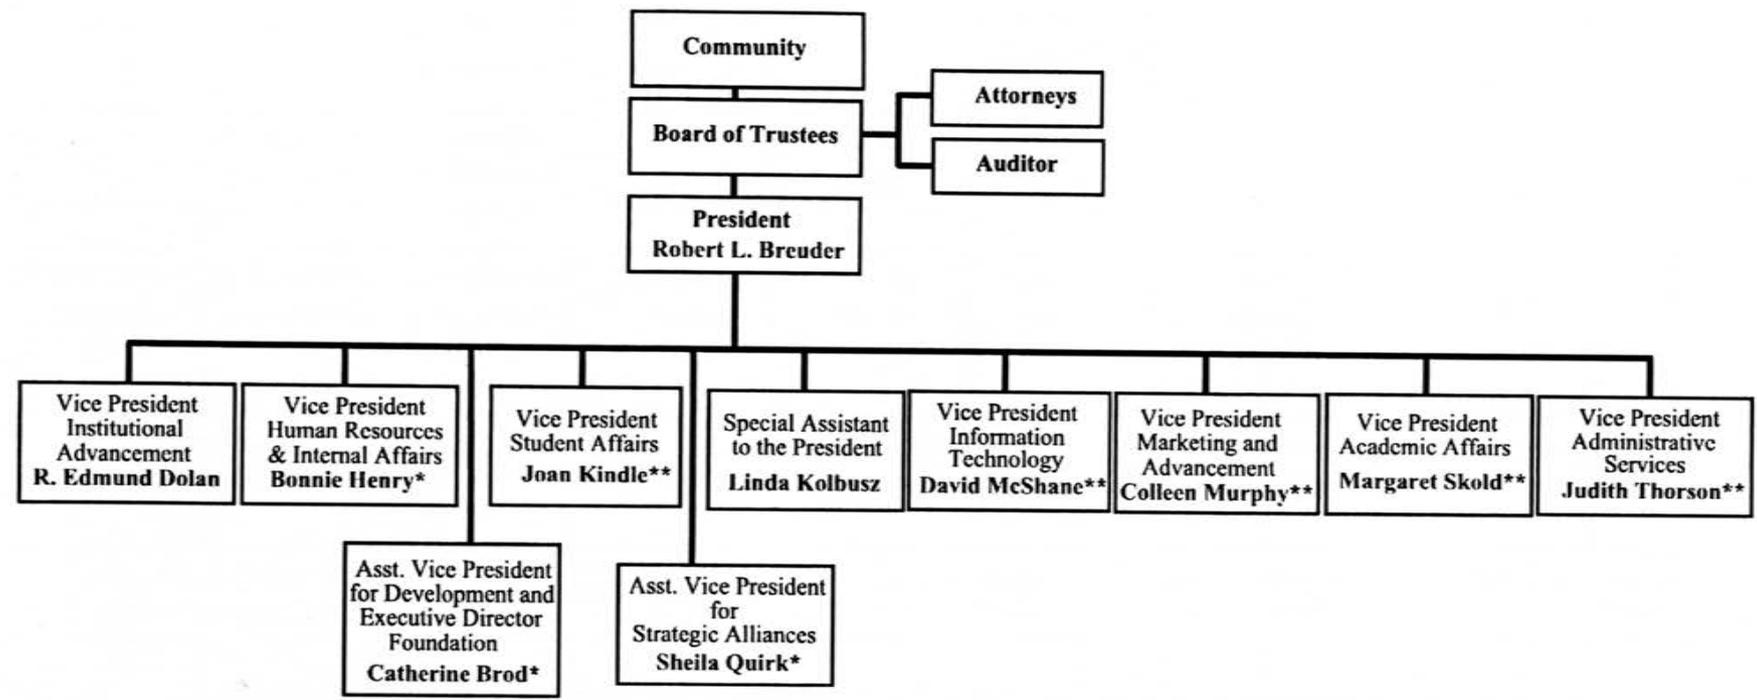

In good decision-making, committee members examine ideas, rationales and consequences regarding an issue. Shared Governance enables the varied constituencies to influence the planning and growth of the College and promotes personal commitment to the College goals. The more participation there is by constituents in decision-making, the more likely decisions will be supported. Participation promotes a healthy climate in which the Shared Governance Structure will function effectively.

For Shared Governance to succeed, it is important that all Harper College employees be active participants as appropriate. No group will be slighted or ignored.
