

2011 National Community College Benchmarking Project

Results for Harper College

The National Community College Benchmark Project (NCCBP) allows participating community colleges to compare themselves to other institutions on up to 145 items covering student measures (student degree/certificate completion or transfer, student course performance, student persistence and course retention, student satisfaction) and institutional measures (institutional characteristics, minority participation, market penetration, and business and industry productivity). Some items were provided to characterize the college such as “rural, suburban or urban setting.” Colleges do not have to provide values for every item. Harper provided values for 121 items in fiscal year 2011. Most of the items Harper did not provide were for national surveys (such as Noel-Levitz Satisfaction Scales) not used by the College or for data not maintained as part of the college’s reporting processes. 2011 marked the fifth consecutive year of Harper’s participation in NCCBP.

The results are displayed in the following sections:

- The Equivalency Table provides a legend to compare the NCCBP Metric with Harper’s Institutional Effectiveness Measure.
- The Aggregated Report received back from NCCBP which displays the data that Harper submitted as well as how Harper compares or “benchmarks” against the other institutions that participated in the survey for fiscal year 2011 (01July 2010 through 30 June 2011).
For each item, Harper’s value and percentile rank are reported. Additionally, norm values for the 10th, 25th, median (Mdn or 50th percentile), 75th, and 90th percentile are provided. For example, on Form 1 Harper’s reported Service Area Total Population was 531,600 which was at the 71st percentile. This means that 71 percent of the 280 colleges reporting on this item had service area populations less than Harper’s service area population, or conversely that the population of Harper’s district is greater than all but 29% of the districts of the colleges responding to the 2011 NCCBP survey.
- The Strengths Report highlights benchmarks for which Harper was above the 85th percentile of all 280 participating institutions.
- The Best Practices Report compiled by NCCBP. This best practices report is based on data submitted by 280 institutions during the 2011 data collection cycle. The report is generally confined to benchmarks dealing with student learning outcomes. Institutions listed are those that were at or above the 85th percentile for a given benchmark. As noted in the report, for some benchmarks it was more appropriate to list institutions at or below the 15th percentile. Only institutions that consented to be listed in this report were included.

Harper will be participating in the NCCBP data collection for fiscal year 2012.

IEMs-NCCBP Equivalency Table

Institutional effectiveness is a process that involves the entire institution in the assessment and evaluation of the College's performance on key indicators, called Institutional Effectiveness Measures (IEMs). These measures align with the mission and vision of Harper College as well as the needs and expectations of the College's internal and external stakeholders. The institutional effectiveness activities at Harper College measure the quality of the institution in eight categories:

- Student Progress
- Progress of Developmental Students
- Performance After Transfer
- Market Penetration
- Workforce Development
- Facilities
- Financials
- Employee Diversity

Out of a total of 24 IEMs, 16 are directly linked to NCCBP metrics.
